OHIO ASSEMBLY RETURNS HOME

Leaves Much Business Unfinished but Senate Passes Bill To Hike Pensions.

JOB INSURANCE PENDING

Milk Control and Sundry Claims Also Left Over Until Next Session.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O April 3—Leaving much pressing business unfinished Ohio's legislators went home again today with their return date uncertain— after passing the $50 000 flood relief bill without its emergency clause and sending to Gov Martin L Davey two appropriation items he had vetoed twice

Only skeleton sessions of both houses were scheduled for tomorrow for presiding officials to sign bills The call of the officers will determine when the body meets again Some observers predicted it would not return until May

Pass New Pension Bill

The senate unanimously passed a revised old age pension bill increasing the maximum payments from $15 to $20 a month and reducing a residence requirement from 15 to 10 years

The most important of state welfare measures being enacted in conformity with federal social security legislation it goes back to the house for concurrence in a minor amendment

The senate also passed and sent to the house the Hefner bill to authorize the state liquor department to establish liquor agencies at will in towns with populations of 1 000 or more

By unanimous vote the house sent to the senate a bill to extend validity of chauffeurs licenses to Oct 1 when the drivers license law becomes operative

Job Insurance Pending

Unemployment insurance still locked in controversy a milk marketing bill described by Gov Davey some weeks ago as the most important business before the legislature and the $513 000 sundry claims bill to pay claims caused by Davey's budget vetoes were left over as the legislators rushed through other measures

The house vote on the flood relief bill of Sen Emerson Campbell Democrat of Belmont was 68 to 13 If signed by Gov Davey the bill will be effective 90 days later

Bills by Sen William R Foss Democrat of Mercer to appropriate $125 000 for a new school building at the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans home at Xenia and $6 395 to pay court costs of the industrial commission breezed through the house unanimously and went to Gov Davey

Bill for Survey Ready

Another bill ready for Gov Davey would appropriate $14 000 for continuation of a survey of soil erosion on Lake Erie shores

Legislative action was completed on a bill appropriating $38 000 to reestablish the bureau of juvenile research and $5 000 for the board of professional engineers and surveyors

While Rep Ed Rose Republican of Summit, declared if we have any money to throw away let's give it to the poor people who need food the house defeated a senate bill for $10,000 for expenses of Gov Davey's action committee on Ohio government survey recommendations

A resolution approved by both houses will place on the November ballots a proposal to strike from the state constitution the provision for double liability of state bank stockholders in case of failure.

FARM PROGRAM IS LAUNCHED IN MARION COUNTY

First Township Meetings Held To Start New Soil Conservation Plan.

COMMITTEES SELECTED

Functions of Local Organizations Explained, Other Meetings Scheduled.

First actual steps to launch Marion county's participation in the federal government's soil conservation program were taken last night when meetings to perfect township organizations were held at the Claridon township school and the Richland township house

Farmers from both townships elected committees to work out details of the program and to supervise its operation Members of the Claridon township committee are Paul Lawrence chairman E L Frost C N Kline and R L Ketterer The Richland township committee is composed of H A Mayers chairman William J Loyer Wallace Beckel and John Deitsch

Each township committee will be responsible for operation of the program in that particular area Although each township unit will be independent the chairmen of the 15 committees will form a county board for general supervision of the program which replaced the federal government's crop control plan recently declared unconstitutional by the United States supreme court

Basis of Payments

The program will operate through payments to farmers for switching from soil depleting crops such as corn wheat oats soy beans and other row crops to soil conserving crops including clovers alfalfa and timothy

According to S L Anderson county farm agent who is in charge of launching the program in the county the township committees will have three specific duties (1) To determine the maximum number of acres on which a farmer can claim benefits under the program (2) to establish the rate of compensation to which he is entitled and (3) to see that participating farmers have complied with provisions of the program before they receive their payments

In establishing the maximum number of acres any farmer is entitled to switch from soil depleting crops to soil conserving crops the township committees will consider his practices in past years Mr Anderson said For example if he has been accustomed to planting 100 acres in corn wheat oats and other like crops he is entitled to transfer to soil conserving crops not more than 15 per cent on 15 acres For switching these crops the farmer will be entitled to compensation at a rate to be determined by the township committee Mr Anderson said The average payment for Ohio under present estimates will run $13 an acre according to Mr Anderson

First of Series

The Claridon and Richland township meeting last night opened a series of such meetings to be held in each township Members of the county agent's staff and members of the temporary county committee attended both meetings to explain details of the program and assist in selecting the township committees Mr Anderson Homer Porteous and Homer Kile from the county agent's office attended the Claridon meeting and Dr C P Harper of Green Camp township and J E Harris of Bowling Green township members of the temporary county committee attended the Richland meeting

Farmers of Tully and Grand Prairie townships will hold meetings tonight The following schedule has been arranged for next week Monday Grand and Pleasant townships Tuesday night Montgomery and Scott township Wednesday night Green Camp township at the township house and Waldo township at the school building Thursday night Bowling Green township at the grange hall

CATHOLICS BEGIN 40 HOURS PRAYER

The main altar of St Mary Catholic church was decorated in white for opening of Forty Hours Prayer with a high mass and solemn procession today at 7 a m

Prayers will be offered at the church today Saturday and until the closing high mass is sung Sunday at 11 a m

The Blessed Sacrament which will be exposed during the Forty Hours will be returned to the tabernacle at the Sunday high mass at which palms will be blessed and distributed to the congregation.

MAY GET $24,000,000

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 3—Rep. Robert T. Secrest, Democrat, of Caldwell, O., estimated today Ohio would receive $24,000,000 out of a $400 000,000 highway program approved by the house roads committee for 1936 and 1937.

Water Co. Grants City Rate Extension Request

Agrees to 90-Day Period for Drafting New Schedule; Council To Enact "Legalizing" Measures Tonight.

The Marion Water Co has granted the city's request for extension of present water rates for another 90 days Mayor Frederick C Smith announced today

The company however conditioned its acceptance on a provision that the city legalize payment of present hydrant rentals through the 90-day period in addition to extending the rates of metered consumers which was voted last Monday night

Mayor Smith said city council will meet in special session tonight to act on two ordinances that will meet the company's requirements

City Solicitor Ralph E Carhart who today was preparing the ordinances to submit to council said one of them will authorize Service Director John V Ruth to enter into a contract with the company to extend the present hydrant rental rates of $41 a year for each hydrant for a 90-day period to begin May 3 The other he said will extend the metered rates for the same period

Seeks Air Tight Pact

The solicitor said he felt the ordinance passed Monday night to extend rates would cover the metered rates but to make the extension air tight another for the same purpose will be submitted to council tonight

Mayor Smith said the water company's acceptance came in a telegram received from Reeves J Newsom of New York City president of the company The telegram follows

Answering your communication of March 30 It is our desire to cooperate with the city and we will agree to extend for 90 days from May 3 1936 the present rates for all consumers provided the city legalizes the payment of hydrant rentals during the same period at the rates now in effect Such agreement is not to be binding on the water company after the expiration of the 90 day extension you have requested and is without prejudice to its rights to contend for either the same or higher rates

Plan Thorough Study

The telegram answered a letter from Mayor Smith seeking the extension to give needed time for a fuller study of rates

City officials tentatively plan to write a proposed rate schedule and file it with the public utilities commission saying they feel they would be in better position to defend their own rate than to attack one the company might file immediately after the expiration of the present rates The city in order to have its rates on file ahead of those the company might prepare has been urged by City Solicitor Carhart to adopt a rate schedule 30 days before the expiration of the present rates to allow for a 30 day referendum period

Gains Continue in Receipts at Postoffice Here

Appreciable gains in receipts for both the month and quarter ending March 31 are reported by Postmaster L L Lamborn Receipts for March 1936 amounted to $11 828 86 a gain of $865 07 or 8 3 per cent over the corresponding month last year Receipts for the same month last year were $10 863 19

A gain of $1 747 43 or 5 5 per cent is reported in the quarterly receipts Receipts for the quarter this year amounted to $33 515 85 as compared with $31 768 42 for a corresponding period last year The date marks the close of the third quarter of the postoffice's fiscal year

A gradual and steady increase in business generally is attributed by Postmaster Lamborn for the increase

LAMSON GOES FREE AFTER THREE TRIALS

District Attorney Says It's Impossible To Get Jury To Convict Californian

By The Associated Press

SAN JOSE Calif April 3—Wife murder charges against David A Lamson were dismissed today and he was ordered liberated immediately

District Attorney Fred Moore personally asked Superior Judge J J Trabucco to dismiss the charge against Lamson who had faced three trials

Moore said it was impossible to obtain a jury to convict the defendant Lamson, former Stanford university press executive was convicted at his first trial for slaying his young wife Aileen Thorpe Lamson and sentenced to hang

The state supreme court granted him a new trial

Juries in the second and third trials disagreed

Lamson was accused of clubbing his wife to death in the bathroom of their campus home Memorial day 1933 The defense contended she fell and injured herself fatally

DONAHEY WILL BACK REDUCED RIVER PROGRAM

Ohio Senator To Propose Curtailed Plan Before Senate Committee.

COST CUT TO 20 MILLION

New Proposal Calls for Seven Dams Instead of Original Ten Reservoirs

A curtailed flood control program for the Scioto and Sandusky rivers will be proposed to the senate committee by Sen Vic Donahey The Associated Press reported today in a dispatch from Washington, D C

The new program will embrace slightly more than half the work originally planned for the rivers and will eliminate a proposed dam in the vicinity of Little Sandusky on the Sandusky river

Seven dams and reservoirs are included in the new program the Ohio senator will ask the commerce committee to include in its flood control bill The cost is estimated at $20 000 000 as compared with the $50 000 000 the original program was estimated to cost

Approved By Engineers

Sen Donahey said he had been informed by Alex N Jordan of Columbus ex cutive secretary of the Ohio Valley Conservation and Flood Control congress that army engineers had approved the new program

He emphasized that he could not predict what action the committee would take until it has received direct word from army engineers on whether they consider the project desirable

The Associated Press report lists the proposed dams at Ballpoint Delaware Hoover and on Big Darby creek Pinke creek Deer creek and Rocky fork

Advocates of the plan designed for flood control and water conservation previously had presented to army engineers and works progress officials a program calling for 10 dams and reservoirs

Army engineers however gave it an adverse report to the WPA last year on the ground that the cost of materials compared with the amount to be paid in wages was too high

With the program now to be included in the senate omnibus flood control bill the entire cost will be carried by the government Under the former arrangement calling for the work to be done as a works administration project counties along the two rivers would have been required to bear a portion of the cost

Bereaved Mother Dog 'Adopts' Toy Rat, Then Lamb

The story of how a Marion county dog recently played the role of mother to a young lamb after her litter of pups died at birth was related today by John Jolley Marion barber

The dog is an Irish Setter owned by Mr Jolley's niece Miss Martha Cheney of state route No 4 near Prospect

After the death of her pups the Setter, apparently seeking something upon which to bestow a mother's love carried a toy rubber rat from the Cheney residence to her home in the barn When the rat was taken from her the dog carried a young lamb from the fields to the barn

Knowing that many dogs are sheep killers, members of the household upon discovering the Setter's latest action, took the lamb from her This failed to discourage the dog and the following day she again brought the lamb to the barn This time Miss Cheney watched the pair a few minutes before interfering and although they seemed to be 'hitting it off' together the lamb was taken from the dog's care A third day and the Setter again had her new found babe in the barn and this time there was no interference

However it was only a few days before the lamb was big enough to get around by itself and the dog-lamb combination has been automatically broken up.

THIRTY-DEGREE MERCURY DROP REGISTERED HERE

Goes to Seven Below Freezing in Spring Cold Wave; Three Below Zero in Nebraska.

Marion today was feeling the effect of a general cold wave that sent temperatures to three below zero in Nebraska and brought eight inches of snow to Milwaukee, Wis, the heaviest April fall on record there.

A half-inch snowfall here last night accompanied a drop in temperature to 25 degrees, seven degrees below the freezing point. Last night's low was a 30-degree drop from the high of 55 yesterday.

The belated winter attack that blotted out the spring scene in many sections of the country did little damage to fruit crops here, growers reported this morning. Because of the late arrival of spring weather buds are not far enough advanced to be seriously damaged, they said.

Relief by Saturday was predicted in the official government weather forecast today. Fair tonight and Saturday with slowly rising temperatures is the prediction.

Subnormal temperatures added to the suffering caused by floods in many parts of the midwest, The Associated Press reported.

Readings ranging down through the low twenties and 'teens to three below zero at Comad, Neb., were reported. Omaha's 14 degree weather was the coldest for April 3 in 28 years. Meteorologists predicted the mercury would fall near the all-time April depth of 17 degrees established in 1875 at Chicago.

Cold damaged crops in the southwest.

DUCE'S TROOPS AT LAKE TANA

Officials Reaffirm Guarantee That British Interests in That Area Will Not Be Harmed.

MOVE FOR PEACE LIKELY

London Sources Expect Direct Negotiations Between Italy and Ethiopia.

By The Associated Press

Reports reaching Rome said strategic Lake Tana, center of British interests in Ethiopia had been reached by the Italian troops after a drive down the western section of the northern front

Italian officials however reiterated Premier Mussolini's guarantee that British interests around the lake which forms the head waters of the Blue Nile would not be harmed in any way by the occupation

Badoglio Wires Rome

The commander-in-chief of the Italian armies Marshal Pietro Badoglio telegraphed Rome about the reaching of Lake Tana by his troops under command of the secretary general of the Fascist party Achille Starace and told of an Ethiopian retreat at Lake Ashangi on the eastern section of the northern front

Informed sources in London envisaged direct peace negotiations between Italy and Ethiopia after the departure from Addis Ababa of Emperor Haile Selassie's most trusted adviser Everett Colson who is on his way to Egypt on sick leave

Another reason for Colson's leaving was suggested by Francis W Rickett British oil promoter however who earlier had said he hoped to bring Colson to Egypt for a talk with an Italian representative

Ethiopia Asks Sanctions

Further sanctions against Italy were asked by the Ethiopian government in a note to the League of Nations, while the French government informed sources said, may ask for financial sanctions against Germany for her violation of the Locarno pact

The French government was said to believe that if Germany were allowed to go unpunished, a dangerous precedent would be established.

WANTS WENDEL PROBED BY NEW SET OF JURORS

Acts After Mercer County Panel Refuses To Indict Suspect or Vote a "No Bill"

WARDEN VISITS WILENTZ

Defense To Call on Justice Trenchard If Prosecutor Refuses To Summon Jury.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

TRENTON N J April 3—Col. Mark O Kimberling, warden of state prison said at 2 10 this afternoon that so far as he knew the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann was still set for 8 o'clock tonight

* * *

(Copyright 1936 by The Associated Press)

TRENTON N J April 3 Bruno Richard Hauptmann's counsel looked out shortly before noon today in a last desperate effort to save him from the electric chair, after the Mercer county grand jury had given notice it would not again seek to interfere with the Lindbergh baby killer's execution

C Lloyd Fisher chief defense counsel demanded that the Hunterdon county grand jury be convened to consider charges that Paul H. Wendel and not Bruno Hauptmann kidnaped the famous baby.

Calls Upon Hauck

He directed his demand to Anthony M Hauck Jr the Hunterdon prosecutor who has been most vigorous in the efforts to see that the Hauptmann death sentence be carried out The execution is set for 8 o'clock tonight

If Hauck refused to act Fisher indicated he might call upon Justice Thomas W Trenchard, the trial judge in order Hauck to convene the grand jury and to join him in an effort to stay the execution

The development brought swift reaction

Hauck said he would confer with Attorney General David T Wilentz immediately to determine what to do He reiterated he would oppose any move to delay the execution

Col Mark O Kimberling, warden of the prison where final preparations have been made for the execution, came to the attorney general's office shortly afterward, and it was apparent that another of the climaxes of the famous case was drawing near

Fisher's demand upon the Hunterdon prosecutor to act was based on the opinion that the crime of which Wendel was accused—a crime for which the grand jury of

Hint New Reprieve

By The Associated Press

TRENTON N J, April 3—A close associate of Gov Harold G. Hoffman said today that the governor is prepared to grant Bruno Richard Hauptmann another reprieve The governor's secretary said, The governor will not comment on the report

Mercer county declined late last night to indict Wendel—was committed in Hunterdon county and therefore called for action there

Justice Trenchard the trial judge, declined as recently as Tuesday to stay the execution commenting that the Wendel confession was incredible

Attorney General Wilentz with whom Hauck conferred after receiving the Fisher request, was chief prosecutor of Hauptmann and has never deviated from his belief that Hauptmann — 'and Hauptmann alone' did the Lindbergh kidnaping

May Issue New Reprieve

The action, however, was seen as a development which Gov. Harold G Hoffman might regard as sufficiently important to move him to extend a second reprieve to the prisoner—whose head already has been shaved a second time for the executioner's electrode

Attorney General Wilentz has described the Wendel development as the vilest, lowest, meanest fraud of the entire Hauptmann case, and the Mercer grand jury which listened for two days to much testimony concerning the charges against Wendel was authoritatively reported as ready to vote a "no bill" in the case They boiled deliberation last night without voting either a "no bill" or an indictment.

The stolid and confident Bronx carpenter, who usually arises too late for breakfast, ate a big one today and ate it heartily. He had two eggs, cereal, bread and coffee.

Sleeps and Eats Well

The office of Col Kimberling announced that Hauptmann — in marked contrast to the restless night he spent Monday before his previous date with death—slept well last night.

However, soon after arising at 9 a. m. he again went through the ordeal of being "prepared for the chair. His head was shaved for the second time of the week, he was given clean clothes and transferred from his cell [illegible] nine next to the death [illegible] to the adjacent [illegible]

Bucyrus, Upper Sandusky Stars Among Ohio State Key Gridders for 1936

Coach Schmidt Names Them on List of Men He Is "Relying On" in Difficult Schedule of Games This Year.

Bucyrus and Upper Sandusky students at Ohio State university are among the squad members Coach Francis A Schmidt is counting on to round out his 1936 ball forces for 1936 The Associated Press reported in a wire dispatch from Columbus today

Among the squad of more than four score moleskin wearers out for spring training Coach Schmidt named Carl Kaplanoff of Bucyrus, left tackle and John Garner of Upper Sandusky center among his prospective key men

Of the big turnout for spring practice Coach Schmidt said "We and we're going to need every one of them if we are to get through that schedule next fall The big darn '36 grid duty make up one of the biggest spring training squads at the university in years

Schmidt said he would have to boast players of almost equal ability three or four deep in every position for 1936

"Look at Schedule

"Just look at that schedule" he said

First comes New York University—a team that was a Rose Bowl candidate right up to the last game

Then comes Pittsburgh — and you can bet that Pitt will be up there bidding for the national championship

Then Indiana! With Bo McMillin coaching out there the Hoosiers are always tough

And then Northwestern—well Northwestern was good enough to beat Notre Dame—while we—but forget that.

'And after Northwestern they keep getting tougher I tell you that if things don't turn out right we have a chance to lose every game I don't think we will but we must have a lot of man power and must have it early if we are going to do any good

If we just lose one or two key men—even just a little P flat guy like Joe Williams—it's liable to throw us off

COLUMBUS O April 3—When a man bites a dog or a bull throws a congressman that's news!

Also it's news when a mere boy a college boy throws a bull actually not figuratively

We speak of Otto (The Great) Hach bull throwing strong man of Kent State's wrestling team

Hach "The Great" grasps right out into a pasture selects a bull and slams him

Coach Joe Begala of Kent State former all Ohio grid star and mat ace at Ohio University vouches for the bull throwing yarn of his 158-pound Hercules

Begala said he visited the Hach farm up near Twinsburg and as he got out of his auto he saw "The Great" clad in overalls with a headlock on a large young bull The coach was amazed as Hach twisted the bull over on its back

Hach however was apologetic and told the coach he didn't use him at his best as the bull he had just thrown was an "amateur and more or less anemic "The Great" immediately became a Kent State candidate and he hasn't lost a match yet.

In addition to tossing bulls with utter abandon Hach is prone to stunts in lude breaking strength testing machines in penny arcades lifting autos out of ditches with the ease and grace of a giant and hoisting unusually heavy objects which others think should stay put

The Great is chesty—in a modest way He has a eighteen inch expansion with the considered above normal and measures 44 inches around the chest Has a star student too

Charles A (Sparrow) Young Springfield's grand old man of the traps has a new name

The nation's trapshooters are calling him father and he earned the name this year while winning a flock of shoots in the south

Charles who admits he's somewhere between 70 and 80 is the only man ever to win the Grand American Handicap with 100 targets in a row from the 23-yard line He did it in 1926

The veteran won a trophy event at Orleans Ind early this week breaking 193 out of 200 so maybe they are calling him father because he can still teach the youngsters a few things

Eva Shorb the cute little blond golfer from Massillon who carried such a favorite in the Women's Western Open at Cleveland last year has shifted her allegiance to the Canton Hoggard club and plans an extensive 1936 campaign She's only 18

The folks from up in Lorain county are going to honor Burt Shotton new skipper of the Columbus Red Birds April 19 The pilot is the lone resident of the county who has really made good in baseball and a delegation of fans from there will journey down to the state capital to see the Birds and Millers battle and to tell Burt how glad they are about it all Shotton was born in Brownhelm and went away to the minor league wars 28 years ago

Bozzell, Dugan To Renew Mat Feud Monday Night

Monday night's wrestling program at the Shrine gymnasium will bring to Marion a quartet of familiar faces Four grapplers who have been here several times during the past month are booked to perform on the mat card next week Paul Bozzell is rematched with Ernie Dugan and Andy Tremaine will meet Marcell Lavernois in 90-minute bouts

Fans may expect just anything to happen during the Bozzell Dugan bout Those who enjoy the grappling game at its roughest are in for a treat when these two mix everything but a true wrestling hold They met here for the first time two weeks ago

The group engaged the referee and required help from outside the ring to call a bout Andy Bozzell scored a pinfall over Dugan The two were in the ring approximately six minutes during their three fall fight Dugan took the first fall in an even quicker with a series of right and left body punches but lost the second when he fell into Bozzell's hold and The third fall went to Bozzell as a body scissors and head pin Dugan protested for the referee on his feet were over the ropes while his body was being pinned

Wild Andy Tremaine and Marcell Lavernois grapplers in the second main bout fans are off for a wild roughly progress The action which I order on the level between clean fighting and rough stuff Tremaine showed here that his prowess is no flash in the pan by taking Dugan's measure in two straight falls in 1 hour

Lavernois claims he has studied jiu jitsu and probably is a high ranking member of the order Tremaine is capable in fact his opponents who confine their grappling to the mat game but may be no judge of the game Lavernois The main event matches with Lavernois probably in a high ranking wrestling exhibition

A four bout preliminary match will complete the wrestling program for Monday night The curtain raiser will begin the show at 8:30 o'clock

LOSS OF LYLE JUDY BLOW TO CARDINALS

Rickey's New Ty Cobb Out of Game Because of Shoulder Injury

By International News Service

ST LOUIS — One of baseball saddest cases is that of Lyle Judy the sensational young infielder from Springfield Mo who was expected to be understudy to Manager Frankie Frisch of the Cards in all second base this year

Judy who set a modern record when he stole 107 bases while playing for Springfield last year will not play with the Cardinal this season or after all—all because of a recurrence of an injury he suffered in an automobile accident at Louisville Ky during the winter

While practicing with the card rookies at Bradenton Fla spring training camp of the Red Birds Judy's throwing arm suddenly went lame

Pushed back to St Louis to be examined by Dr Robert F Hyland Cardinals physician Judy was found to be suffering from shoulder trouble Dr Hyland told Judy could have to undergo an operation and conveyed this news to Branch Rickey vice president of the club

At Rickey's request Dr Hyland is delaying the operation because Rickey wants to see if Judy can not clear up the injury by playing minor league baseball and thus forego an operation If the injury does not come around by the middle of the summer Dr Hyland said Judy will have to undergo an operation

Judy's loss is a big blow to the Cardinals Let Rickey tell how much the Cardinals value Judy

"In the biggest loss our club has suffered in 10 years Rickey said He was another Ty Cobb Why Judy was the greatest young prospect I have seen since I brought George Sisler in from the University of Michigan

Jim's Tops

JIM BOTTOMLEY recently acquired by the Browns from the Reds holds a major league record of 1 run batted in on a opening game established Sept 18 1924 Sunday in a 1 5 game played at

Jim batted in seven runs in a total of 131 for the still active National leaders

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

By The Associated Press

SEBRING — Tom Baker and Max Butcher seemed to have spares on the Brooklyn pitching staff Baker has allowed six hits in 14 innings against major leaguers and Casey Stengel says I'll keep him box even if I first last

CLARKSDALE Miss — After hitting safely in 17 consecutive games Joe Moore the Giants left fielder went without a single as the Giants beat the Indians 6 5 yesterday Cleveland now holds five victories to four for New York in the series.

BIRMINGHAM Ala—Roy Parmelee's pitching had the boys talking today He allowed only two hits in five innings yesterday when he faced Jimmie Foxx and played the Crackers in Atlanta

PARIS Tex—Between showers over a cold snap the Pirates gloated today over five double plays against the White Sox at Tyler Texas yesterday claiming a training season record in the absence of statistics to the contrary

KNOXVILLE Tenn — The weather was very promising but the Athletics hoped the have a base today to play another game with Knoxville as to wipe on yesterday's morning 14 to 0 defeat by the minor league stars They had 40 degree weather as an alibi

DELAND Fla — The Phillies defeated by Baltimore yesterday at Kissimmee came here today to take on the Minneapolis Millers

News From Field And Stream

Gossip of Interest to Hunters and Fishermen

BY LARRY BAUER

REMEMBER way back when squirrel broth was a standard recipe for convalescents And a young cleverly ground hog was fresh meat in the summertime? Or the foot you waited until the harvester started to cut the last grain in the center of the field and with dog and stick got a mess of half grown rabbits as they scurried out?

If so then you are one of the ancient brotherhood with wholesome memories of youth that are denied many boys of today because of the scarcity of wild life and increased urban population

Those were great days City folks would drive out in spring wagon and buggies to shoot ducks turkey and deer as the first frosts tinged the air of fall After thick pointers and setters fought a round or so with the farm dogs everybody settled down for a week of hunting and eating huge meals

Listenin to The Music

The visiting sportsmen brought candy and knicknacks for the women folk and store likker for the men Also fine breech loading shotguns which they permitted the youngsters to fire now and then Every other night there was a coon hunt or fox chase with the music ringing clear in the moonlight Someone always carried an oil lantern which went out at the wrong time

On nights when the dogs rested from their nocturnal hunts all hands turned out for old time fun With tunes by a fiddler and stimulus by the best cider in the neighborhood There were fist fights to be sure but nothing serious Just good clean fun For refreshment there were pickers of cider and baking pans full of roasted quail The taste lingers yet We would swap all our fancy guns and fishing gear to relive just a few of those days Who wouldn't but they are gone forever

Somewhere in this yarn we mentioned groundhog also known as woodchuck A fat one well roasted is not to be despised Old ones should be parboiled for 20 minutes but young ones do not require this treatment Rub with salt and pepper and roast in a slow oven allowing about 20 minutes to every pound A better method is to barbecue them over an open fire

Dust Menaces Birds

Quail and prairie chickens are being wiped out by dust storms I D Rickey Oklahoma state game warden reports

The situation is acute he said We had the same thing last year and it looks as if it will be worse this spring if the storms continue

Kansas has ordered a closed season on prairie chickens this year

Frank Daugherty government reindeer superintendent says wolves are killing deer in the Point Barrow Alaska area just for sport eating only the tongue More than 500 deer have been killed

In the Malheur national forest of Oregon there is an area reserved for hunting by archers

"I don't see why anyone should be afraid of having such an investigation," Borah said.

"It should be an open inquiry and go into all phases of the WPA. I have received letters from citizens complaining against the relief organization, as have other senators."

Chairman Byrnes, Democrat of South Carolina, of the senate audit committee, to which the resolution, introduced by Sen. Davis, Republican of Pennsylvania, was referred, said he did not know when the committee would meet again but that when it did he would make sure all Democratic members were present. Davis asked $100,000 for the inquiry.

At the press conference, Hopkins attributed reports that WPA workers got their jobs through political influence to "politicians" who "take pride in telling the wide world they are the fellows who know how to get relief jobs."

"If that would stand up," Hopkins said, leaning over his desk, "if we were cutting off only Democrats, or Republicans—if they could make that stand up—they would have a case against us. But I don't believe that's true."

Because of the severity of the climate school houses have been constructed in Lapland below the surface of the ground with doors in the roofs.

Waste Deposit May Become Nation's New Fuel Supply

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 3—A waste product which has been a nuisance ever since anthracite coal mining began is being put through laboratory paces as a potential fuel.

If final tests show good results, Pennsylvania's Susquehanna river would be dredged to supply the raw material.

Walter Vincent, a senior metallurgist in the Case School of Applied Science, is studying anthracite "culm" and his preliminary tests indicate it has enough fuel value to make commercial recovery a possibility.

Culm is a dark gray, gritty substance found in layers through the coal beds. For years anthracite miners have removed it and piled it up. Much of it has washed into the Susquehanna river, which flows through an anthracite region.

Vincent's preliminary screen and flotation tests show about 60 to 64 per cent by weight can be recovered from the raw clum, with a combustion ratio of 82 per cent.

He is working on further tests with the wilfley table, a device which washes impurities out of raw materials.

Should his calculations verify indications that the process is commercially feasible, the procedure would be to dredge the culm out of the river and purify it for commercial uses, he said.

Such a fuel could be used in the same type of automatic stokers which now use pulverized coal, Vincent explained.

Mining engineers have not been able to estimate the amount of culm in the Susquehanna, but during many decades enough of it has accumulated to make its recovery worth trying, he said.

Vincent has not gone into the problem of bituminous culm, as he considers it less likely to have enough commercial value to warrant treatment.

Recovery of the anthracite culm from the river, he said, would be more economical than to haul it from scattered piles near the mines.

EASTER MORN-
PLEASE DRESS UP
...AND BE HAPPY

Dressing up on Easter morn is one of the world's oldest and most beautiful customs. It comes at a time when all nature is putting on new clothes—and has the effect of a tonic on mind and body.

To this grand old tradition, it is our privilege to contribute the largest, finest and most complete selection of new Spring suits and topcoats in 57 years of clothes making... and that's saying something.

An added pleasure is the fact that you can have your choice of any of these fine clothes for the low price of $22.50. And by this we mean any new style, any type of fabric, any color you prefer, any pattern, any size.

Always exceptional values, our clothes this season give you more for your money than ever. Treat yourself to the benefit of buying direct from the maker, without middleman's profit, without credit annoyances, without wholesale selling expenses, without delivery overhead.

USE 1936 TAGS, DOG OWNERS ARE TOLD

A warning to Marion county dog owners to put the 1936 tags they have purchased on their dogs was voiced today by Dog Warden Elmer Lilliom when he filed his report for last week with county commissioners.

The warden said that in several instances last week he found the owners had failed to tag their dogs although they had purchased the licenses. Thirty dogs were impounded by Mr. Lilliom last week. One Marion county farmer, A. A. Parish of Big Island township filed a claim for sheep losses. Mr. Parish lost five ewes valued at $25 and had four ewes injured, a loss that is estimated at $10.

American Woman Divorces Japanese Dancer Who Became "Too Oriental."

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, Calif April 3—Blue-eyed Hazel Wright, American by birth and—until yesterday—Japanese by marriage had her own explanation today for what Kipling meant by never the twain shall meet

Yesterday she divorced Michio Ito internationally known Japanese dancer Miss Wright was a student of dancing when they married

Today she told of the slowly developed rift that eventually shattered their marriage He became more oriental she more occidental she said explaining

When I married him 13 years ago he was absolutely western in his ways Now as he grows older he becomes more and more oriental

She has two sons 12 and 8 years old One she said is calm philosophical intensely proud of his Japanese blood The younger has the opposite attitude

Wilma Is Happy and Gay Since Taking Vendol Tonic

Parents tell how this great medicine gave 8 year old child a good appetite, quieted her nerves and she romps and plays like other healthy children.

WILMA LOUISE PHILLIPS

All of us are feeling very friendly toward Vendol since it has done our little eight year old girl Wilma Louise so much good said Mr Carl Phillips of 1314 Beard Avenue Cambridge Ohio

Wilma hadn't any appetite she would toss in her sleep and would get up three or four times during the night She was so nervous she always had to sleep with someone

Her digestion was weak and she suffered a lot from gas and pains in her left side Her tongue was always coated and breath bad and she was losing weight Even her school teacher noticed she was not well

We began giving her Vendol several weeks ago and she is like a different child now Her stomach no longer gives trouble is free of the gas and cramps her nerves are steady so that she gets sound restful sleep every night Her color is better is gaining weight and romps and plays like all the other children

We just think Vendol is a wonderful medicine and I advise every parent with sickly children to get some at once

Vendol is sold and recommended by all leading druggists everywhere and Hennes & Cooper put their full recommendation behind it. Start at once taking Vendol and see how quickly you will begin to improve.—Adv.

RACE RACKET TIPS EXPOSED

New York State Attorney Accuses 86 of Supplying Fake "Inside" Information.

By International News Service

NEW YORK — Barrow said "one a minute"—but he lived before the tip sheets came into circulation. "One a minute" wouldn't be crop enough to support all the tip sheets published in Manhattan and distributed through most of the country.

State Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr., after six months of investigating, has decided that the tipsters and touts who make a living on the fringe of racing have been defrauding the public. From what we found out so far, he has indicted some 86 operators of tip sheets and installed "farming out management officers."

He just came up to a ball of wax! Most amusing advertisement in racing publications as having good "winning information" when the people who were their "victims" swore that the advertising blurbs didn't fit at all with the causes of "prosperous winnings" the whole story tells them perfect. It good and hard-earned cash.

The attorney general's office charged that more than 200 tip sheets operate in and around New York City alone, that they and their printing syndicates take $1,000,000 a year from gullible men and women who follow their information as the publications. The "information" contained in them, he declared, is of such a caliber that the "clients" are bound to lose. Similar "tip sheets" are sold throughout the country.

An investigator went to the race track and found and bought the racing tip sheets. The dealer handed out five of them ranging in price from 1c to 25 cents. They contained the names of from 12 to 100 horses racing at the whole track.

From the entire group of data contained in the five sheets, there were found to be 11 horses recommended to run in the day, after scratches had been announced at Charlestown, Fair Grounds, Hawthorne and Bay Meadows by 10 of the five.

Result of Checkup

A checkup showed:

Of the 11 horses tipped, Lucien Harding (a name) turned out to be withdrawn. Three others managed to get second place and three more finished third. The rest—28 out of 33—finished out of the money.

Had one of the 10 on each of the tipped horses would have resulted in a loss of $1.90. Had only the best player betting the board to take in three first finishes would as well as to the cost would have been $5 a race, or $330, and the total return of $21.10, a net loss of $308.90 plus the cost of the tip sheets giving the lists of winners.

That's what actually happened. Now what if what the tip sheets said would happen Says one of the sheets from Alameda, Jr.:

"Anyone who is sure to give you a whale of a race for your money is Alameda Jr., which gave the nose of H. K. Bryson, well-known Maryland sportsman and one of the leaders at the Fair Grounds course. With Ray Ryan or Harry Peters saddling it will be all over but the shouting. Any direction and any price, and let the price take care of itself."

Maybe Alameda Jr. didn't know what his tip sheet press agent was saying about him, for he ran fourth over a mile course, beaten five lengths and a nose for all the money.

Other "Errors"

The same tip sheet gave Le Moniteur, in the first race at New Orleans, which ran fifth; Sun Fire, in the fourth at New Orleans, which ran second; Jim High, in the fifth at New Orleans, which ran out of money; Paper Profit, in the eighth at Houston, which ran out of the money; High Bottom, in the second at Houston, which ran out of the money, and Small Mortgage, in the fourth at Bay Meadows, which managed to get in second place at 90 cents to a dollar.

Four of the five tip sheets the investigator purchased took a whack at the sixth race at Bay Meadows, in which 11 thoroughbreds faced the barrier.

One of the sheets picked Portscript, coupled in the betting with Pundit, and Regardless, coupled with Our Man, giving this sheet a chance to have the winner if any one of four of the starters won. Another picked Velocitier, another picked Oswell, and the fourth picked Our Man, previously mentioned. That gave the combined tip sheet selectors six of the 11 horses running in the race, and not one of the six even finished in the money.

Injury at Birth.

IT ALWAYS gives one a pang of sympathy to see a cripple or deformed child. Many of these deformities might have been prevented in many instances. If the necessary medical care had been given to the mother before the birth of the child, the accidents would have been avoided. In other cases, surgery during early childhood would have corrected the trouble.

No doubt you will be astonished to learn that in the United States each year more than 150,000 children are born dead or die shortly after birth. About half of these deaths can be traced to some injury received at birth. Many who escape visible physical deformity may suffer the effects of brain injuries.

The figures are amazing and difficult to understand in light of modern scientific achievement. It is true that motherhood has been made safer as a result of improved methods of surgery, better anesthesia, and the discovery of many valuable appliances. But the number of childbirth injuries is far too great.

Much of this trouble can be traced to the neglect of appropriate medical care during the so-called "prenatal" period. It is imperative that every expectant mother secure early medical advice. It is vitally important that she have care during the months of her pregnancy. This is advised so much is learned before the birth of the baby will help the doctor to provide for a normal delivery.

Real or fancy that almost every factor of possible trouble can be removed during the early months of pregnancy. If this sensible course is followed the mother will be saved from a difficult labor and the infant protected against childbirth injury.

The mother should take every measure to improve her general health before confinement. She should visit her doctor as soon as possible and continue under competent medical attention. After the first physical examination she should return to the doctor periodically. He will make the necessary tests, including the blood pressure and urinalysis.

Too many look upon childbirth as a "natural" thing. This is the fact, of course, but sometimes we can help Mother Nature and it is not wise to take unnecessary chances. Complications are too likely to follow if the simple precautions are overlooked.

The doctor has many facilities at his command to discover unsuspected dangers. He has the resources of the laboratory, the x-ray and other modern scientific equipment to safeguard mother and child. Take advantage of them.

Answers to Health Queries

C. J. R. Q.—What can be done to overcome a bladder weakness?

A.—This requires the personal attention of a doctor. The treatment depends upon the cause of the trouble. There are a number of factors to be taken into consideration.

A. C. Z. Q.—What causes a sharp pain through the heart? It is giving me great worry as the pain comes so quickly—every 30 or 35 minutes.

A.—This symptom should not be overlooked. Consult your physician and have an examination made.

The Stars Say--

For Saturday, April 4

ACCORDING TO the major planetary configurations, this may prove to be a perplexing and difficult day. The energies and faculties are inclined to turn inward to the serious, mystical or unusual, rather than to cope with problems and conditions with practical and constructive attack. A loss or a bereavement or depressed mental condition may be accountable for this. Be alert to treachery and turn inward for solace and guidance.

Those whose birthday it is may may have a year of more or less inertia with little inclination to attack problems of daily living with energy and practical manipulation. This may be due to a turning inward to the spiritual, mystical or unusual avocations, or probably to a depressed physical condition. There may be the passing of a friend or other difficulty impressing those created by domestic, social or affectional ties.

A child born on this day may be studious, profound and with deep interest in curious, mystical or spiritual subjects, in which it will find much comfort.

$887 RECEIVED BY COURT IN MARCH

Collections $1,396 Less Than February in City Department.

Municipal court receipts in Marion amounted to $887.11. Disbursement of the money collected during the month was announced today by Miss Mary Reinhart, deputy in the court office.

The receipts dropped $1,734.05 below the collections of the previous month. The heavy decrease is attributed to the fact that the drive in collecting the old fines ceased following the elimination of the office of police prosecutor, court officials said.

Disbursements of the February collection included state of Ohio, $443.75; law library, $11.10; Marion county, $154.65. A total of $65.50 was paid to the city of Marion. Of that amount $47.50 was collected from criminal cases and $18.00 from civil cases.

Adams County Back Taxes Enough To Run It 13 Years

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of stories on the financial condition of Ohio counties)

BY E. J. CASTERLIN

(Cross Lines Press Staff Writer)

COLUMBUS O April 3 — If Adams county could collect all the money owed to it by delinquent taxpayers it would have sufficient funds with which to operate 13 years

Past due taxes in 11 other counties would pay their operating expenses for a year or more a survey of 51 counties disclosed today With their accumulation of delinquent taxes Allen could operate six years Cuyahoga and Geauga five and Erie three

No one of the 51 was without delinquent taxes The amounts ranged from $7 000 in Ashland county to $22 404 799 in Cuyahoga The arrears in all the 51 counties aggregated $43 630 823

Inability to clean up the delinquent tax lists constitutes one of the biggest problems of some of the counties The legislature after listening to appeals for help from those financially embarrassed has enacted laws to facilitate the collection of overdue taxes

Adams county has $8 000 outstanding in delinquent taxes as contrasted with estimated early operating expenses of $6 500 Allen county taxpayers are in arrears $ 591 736 as compared with $400 947 operating expenses Geauga's delinquencies total $731 082 as against $131 063 operating expenses Cuyahoga requires an outlay of $4 699 202 as compared with $22 404 799 delinquencies

Other counties whose delinquencies exceed operating expenses, and the expenses (listed second) for comparison are

Erie $1 005 914 $307 064 Lucas $4 659 414 $1 83 992 Belmont $535 35. $400 000 Clermont $450 000 $120 000 Gallia $102 049—$85 000 Scioto $1 892 780—$576 470 Logan $258 121—$112 051 and Hancock $303 698 $224 047

Hamilton county whose officials have pressed vigorously the collection of back taxes for several years has perhaps a smaller comparative delinquent tax problem than any other big city in the state Its taxpayers owe $1 545 720 in delinquencies while the operating expenses are $4 146 065

Other counties with big delinquent tax lists and their operating expenses (listed second) are

Mahoning $1 273 000 $1 112 028 Summit $1 140 000—$1 098 523 and Trumbull $671 148 $500 000

Damaged Confidence.

The country would do well to share some of its interest in the fate of Bruno Richard Hauptmann with the fate of its judicial system.

Hauptmann was tried, found guilty and sentenced to death. Thereafter, a steady incursion of peculiar influences into the case began. The exact nature of the influences cannot be determined positively, but there lingers about them an odor strongly suggestive of politics.

The decision of the court has been challenged inferentially by certain men with apparently nothing to support them but authority which cannot be used properly in matters primarily judicial. Severe damage has been done not only to the courts but to the entire system of government. The affair has been almost a fiasco.

It was predicted at the outset of Hauptmann's trial that the judicial system faced a severe test of ability to function properly under heavy pressure. On the whole, the test turned out more favorably than expected. But the reassurance thus given has been discounted heavily by subsequent developments damaging to confidence in the compactness, intelligence and integrity of government. It is difficult to believe the affair could have been handled in a more disturbing manner than it has been handled. Hauptmann has become almost a secondary figure, the victim of a disturbing interplay of forces seemingly out of control.

Save That Post.

George L. Berry, who has been standing a little to one side in the administrative picture with his arm draped over the post of coordinator for industrial cooperation, is not to be disturbed. By executive order, President Roosevelt has spared the post for at least the duration of his term.

It is interesting to know what Mr. Berry, as head of a new agency of the federal bureaucracy, is supposed to do. The following is the official description of his functions and duties:

"To arrange for and supervise, subject to the direction of the President, conferences of representatives of industry, investors, labor and consumers for consideration of means of supplementing the government's efforts by providing employment for the greatest possible number of employable persons and of improving and maintaining industrial, commercial and labor standards as they affect employment, and to submit reports and recommendations to the President with respect thereto."

It would seem that Mr. Berry will not lack for things to keep him busy. In fact, he is charged with doing single-handed almost as much as the late blue eagle was supposed to do with its beak, its wings and talons, not to mention the forked lightning and the cogwheel it grasped nor the tens of thousands of employes who catered to its commands and whims. If Mr. Berry does no more than to provide employment "for the greatest possible number of employable persons," he will have justified the position he holds.

An Improved Relationship.

An important sidelight of the supreme court's decision against the Sugar Institute is the condition in which it leaves the previously strained relationship between the court and the Roosevelt administration.

It is not necessary to explore the decision to discover that the government reversed in this instance the stand it took in NRA days. Federal counsel then contended certain common methods of competition were injurious and that business should be allowed to engage in large scale cooperative endeavors to promote general welfare. This could be done, counsel argued, without violating anti-trust laws.

With that point of view the court did not agree. It declared inevitable restraints of trade would arise. In the Sugar Institute case, argument was patterned on lines laid down by NRA advocates, but this time government counsel countered with the court's misgivings about monopoly.

In handing down its decision the court defined limitations for business cooperation. It held the Sugar Institute had violated anti-trust laws, though not by attempting to solve a troublesome price problem by cooperative action nor by publishing agreements in advance. The fault lay, rather, in the institute's attempt to make such agreements mandatory upon the whole industry.

Such observers [illegible] Gen a reminder to business men that there may be some legally sanctioned way in which they can work together. If the suggestion be followed, President Roosevelt may rejoice that the supreme court has seconded by implication his invitation to employers to cooperate for the purpose of increasing employment. Doubtless, too, the President has noted with satisfaction the court's refusal to pass on the validity of the utility holding company act in a case which would necessitate the use of a narrow basis.

It is not without significance that strident cries for revenge on the judicial branch have softened now that the supreme court has done the administration no harm in the TVA and Sugar Institute cases and has refrained from a decision on the holding company act.

Proposals.

As expected, Chancellor Hitler's proposals to Europe are composed chiefly of ideas which are designed to make cabinets work overtime. He refuses to accept an international police force on his side of the Rhine, to submit his case to the World Court and to promise not to fortify the Rhine. He suggests, on the other hand, a four-month truce for negotiations, a 25-year peace pact with mutual assistance clauses and a Franco-German commission to revise school books of both countries with a view to eliminating inspired distortions.

In all probability France will remain dissatisfied and skeptical, maintaining that the first essential step toward peace is the cementing of a military alliance among Great Britain, Belgium and herself. Hitler's sincerity, unfortunately, cannot be gauged accurately, even by those who are more trusting than the French. There is a broad trace of irony in his repeated suggestion that plebiscites be held in countries whose statesmen reject his plan. His own plebiscite of last Sunday showed too plainly his peculiar method of determining the popular will.

If only that 25-year peace plan would work!

High Water Marks.

A few days ago it was floods of water which worried the eastern half of the United States. It was foreseen then that floods of money would come next. Congressmen are tumbling over each other to add their pet projects to a federal flood control program. A total of a billion dollars' worth of authorizations is not impossible.

Naturally, engineers and other sober thinkers are interested in flood control. Unfortunately, spenders and theorists are interested, also. The task is to subdue them and encourage the engineers and sober thinkers. Flood control must not be used as an excuse for more wild spending but as a reason for sensible, reasonable investment.

There are in the United States a few men who understand what can and cannot be done to diminish flood dangers. There are many more men who feel no hesitancy in pretending to understand almost any complex subject, including the causes and prevention of floods. Most of them already are identified as professional do-gooders. Their principal characteristic is vision; it's no trick for them to see why a billion dollars should be authorized right away for almost anything.

They are clustered around flood control like flies around sugar. Unless they can be brushed aside so the engineers and sober thinkers can work without interruption, the money flood may turn out to be worse than the high water marks left by rampaging rivers.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Saturday, April 3, 1926.

The Marion city board of education, after two years of study and investigation, decided to adopt school banking. It was to start the week of April 12 with inauguration of the system fostered by Thrift, Inc., of Chicago.

The plea of Gerald Chapman, notorious bandit, for a new trial on the charge of murder was denied by the court at Hartford, Conn.

Will Rogers in his weekly letter commented on the increasing death toll in automobile traffic. He said, "Now they call all the accidents 'progress.' Well, maybe it is progress but I tell you it certainly comes high priced."

Mrs. Earl R. Johnson gave a linen shower and bridge party at her home on Hane avenue in honor of Mrs. Paul D. Frey."

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Monday, April, 3, 1916.

A Paris dispatch reported that terrific fighting took place throughout the night at Verdun on the Vaux-Douaumont front. The Germans were attempting to make further progress in Caillette wood southwest of Fort Douaumont but counter attacks by the French appeared to be throwing back the attacking forces.

Major General Funston announced he was inclined to accept as true reports reaching the border that Francisco Villa had again made his escape. He intimated, though, that American troops pursuing the bandit were near him and that important developments might be expected soon.

Clyde Book, 16, died at his home near Marseilles.

Mrs. Mary Gast, 63, died at her home near Prospect.

A dinner declared to be one of the most successful in the history of the organization was held at the Marion club in celebration of the close of a membership campaign and renovation of the club house. The principal address was given by Dr. James Ball Naylor of Malta, O., widely known writer and lecturer.

Danger Signs Seen in Tax Program

Indications Point to Proposed Undivided Surplus Levy as Possible Cause of Next Economic Collapse.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star)

WASHINGTON, April 3.—To the realist who believes that panics are inevitable in cycles of five to seven years or more, because they represent the sum total of human error in attempting to measure the future, there are many factors now in operation, any one of which will doubtless be singled out some day as the conspicuous cause of the next depression.

Just which one will be selected for emphasis is, of course, impossible to conjecture but it seems possible and, indeed distinctly probable, that the undivided surplus tax, if enacted into law as a basis of American tax policy, will be major cause of the next economic collapse experienced by the United States.

Testimony is piling up that a tax on prudence or a penalty on foresight is bound to bring in its wake more distress than followed the panic of 1929 because the severity of the current depression was immeasurably reduced by the large reserves which had been husbanded for the emergency.

The latest reliable figures show, for instance, that in the 13 years between 1921 and 1933, dividends amounted to $50,700,000,000 as against $41,000,000,000 of net income for that period. In other words, all the net income for the four years from 1929 to 1933 was expended to meet dividend requirements and $9,700,000,000 of income from previously accumulated surpluses was disbursed as well. In addition about $16,000,000,000 was disbursed out of surpluses to meet deficits and particularly payrolls. What would American industry have been able to do had there been no such surpluses? What would have happened to the American financial structures if the dividends that were paid had been stopped altogether? Business men answer that without surpluses set aside each year and without the purchasing power and investment funds furnished by dividends in depression, many a company would have been wrecked, its employes forced out of employment and the capital invested would have been lost.

* * *

To force a disbursement of dividends when sound management would seem to indicate that just the reverse policy is essential means that the responsibility for determining the future of American business may rest squarely on government and not on the managers or stockholders or owners or partners, as the case may be.

The last panic was blamed on Wall street—the next one may be blamed on the tax policy of government.

One important business has figured it out that to retain a surplus will cost about 40 per cent. It can get capital much more reasonably by borrowing, but this fortunately is because the company in question already has a surplus which presumably will not be taxed. So it will be in a position to borrow new money and will, of course, distribute its surplus in dividends rather than pay the penalty tax.

But the other type of business which has no accumulated surplus will borrow with difficulty and if it does get credit it may be among the first to collapse at the first adverse turn in a business tide. This is because its opportunity in good times to build up a surplus to take care of annual sinking fund requirements will be impeded by the new tax policy of the government.

But what will be the plight of companies that have distributed surpluses and who find a sudden need for capital when business turns downward? The opportunity to borrow funds when all corporations want it may be affected by tight money conditions or by psychological factors. It is to avoid precisely this kind of a situation that reserves are built up, so business will have funds to weather a storm.

* * *

Perhaps the most amazing aspect of the tax situation is that no bill has been written as yet by the house ways and means committee. Hearings are being held on an academic or theoretical basis. The exact wording of the law, the supposed amendments to protect certain types of companies in the banking and insurance field, have not been revealed. The hearings being held are perfunctory and will have to be duplicated when the exact phraseology of the proposed bill is known.

Many things of an unprecedented and revolutionary character have been done by the new deal party but nothing quite so novel as to hold hearings on an imaginary bill whose only outline has been presented in a presidential message and in a vaguely worded report of a house subcommittee. Undoubtedly the senate finance committee will hold hearings, too, but in the meantime business uncertainly multiplies and the financial managers of America's enterprises do not know how they must adjust themselves to the new tax changes.

Assuredly the income tax in 1913 was a profound influence upon the conduct of American business. But with the size and scale of operations today, the proposed tax on undivided surpluses is bound to cause an even greater transformation in methods and practices, and some day when the non-surplus system faces a real test of economic adversity the nation will be able to examine in retrospect the far reaching influence of the devastating attack now being made on the policy of thrift and foresight in accumulating a surplus for a rainy day. The proposed tax is tantamount to saying "the rainy days will never come again." But, unhappily, they do come and years after the persons responsible for the policies that brought them on are out of office and hence immune from reprisals at the polls.

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight.

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 3.—On the surface, this congress is the most peaceful ever assembled. The usual bickering with the President has been almost entirely missing from news accounts. Members occasionally call each other fools or jackasses, then subside.

The surface illusion, however, is being maintained by the house leadership each day with increasing difficulty.

For instance, if you want to see Speaker Byrns jump three feet, just slip up behind him and say: "Let's have a Democratic caucus."

Nothing terrorizes the master of the house as much as the suggestion that his peaceful family may some day be assembled together in a closed room. He knows the roof would be immediately removed by the concussion. No party caucus has been held this session and none will be.

The reason is that a series of unpublicized revolts have been going on within the happy Democratic family, and more are threatened. There is widespread dissatisfaction among the rank and file with the house leadership program.

Smothers

Mr. Byrns is in somewhat the same predicament as the old woman in the shoe, except that so far he has known what to do. He and his lieutenants (O'Connor, Boland, et al) have been constantly hammering, threatening and trading backstage to keep the boys, particularly the liberals from ganging up.

For example, Mr. White of Idaho circulated a petition some time back for a caucus on the Frazier-Lemke bill. For some reason, this petition mysteriously disappeared. It has never been presented.

More recently Mr. Nichols of Oklahoma got 225 names on a petition for a caucus against CCC curtailments. Every one knows what happened to that one. Congressional leaders flew to the White House and induced the President to abandon his curtailment, rather than have a party caucus.

Quietus

The motives behind the unusual state of legislative affairs is obvious. The leadership is determined to suffer no public defeats in a campaign year. They want to avoid floor fighting even at heavy costs.

The members have found out about that and are pressing to get all the hush money they can in the form of personal bills, patronage and preference for their districts.

Whether or not it will lead to an open break before the end of the session is indeterminable now. It probably will not because all the 319 Democrats in the house are running on the same ticket with President Roosevelt in November. They will naturally seek to prevent existing friction from becoming a matter of public record.

Forecast

Outlook for pending legislation is: The current house form of the tax bill will be radically altered by the senate. A moderate corporation tax scheme vaguely along presidential lines will be finally adopted, carrying sufficient loopholes for accumulation of small reserves and debt retirement. The excise processing taxes, dropped by the house committee, will be restored by the senate. The windfall taxes will be included.

Ship Subsidy

Legislation that has no chance will be postponed until next season. The Black and Smith lobbying bills have been jockeyed into conflicting technical positions where they will probably kill each other off. No lobbying legislation now is in prospect. The housing act will merely be continued. There will be no slums clearance or general low-cost housing legislation.

Senator Wheeler is just having good publicity fun with the basing point bill. It will go over until next session. Also dead or dying are Frazier-Lemke, all inflationary legislation, 34-hour week, food and drugs.

The final form of the relief bill will carry the billion and a half requested by Mr. Roosevelt, but no one yet knows the form or restrictions.

A modified version of the anti-chain store bill will be slipped through at the last minute before adjournment.

Adjournment

Greatest inside problem in congress now is to get it adjourned. The leaders killed off that maverick motion for adjournment in the house the other day, although they have lately developed some personal sympathy for the idea.

All the legislation they really want is the tax bill and the relief bill. The trouble is that, while congress is now waiting around for those two bills, it is getting into mischief. A variety of crazy minor ideas is emerging daily from committees and being presented to both houses. They are hard to handle.

Also congress is so far behind on its routine appropriations bills that night sessions will soon be required if adjournment is to be accomplished before the political conventions in June.

Cloak room gossip now concerns the prospect that congress may have to recess for the conventions and return afterward. The administration would consider that a political calamity. It will see that it does not happen.

New York Notes

O. O. McIntyre's Diary of Fact, Fancy and Folks.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Thoughts while strolling Karl Bickel has the right idea for a Florida home. His house in Sarasota rambles over many acres. But has only one guest room, the size of a Pullman berth. Two hops and a dive off the springboard name—Margaret Mackprang Mackay.

Look alikes: William Frawley and James Farley. Hoosick Falls pride and joy: Harriet Hector. That lady's dress catching fire from a cigaret in the theater lobby should be a warning. But it won't. Put a wig of curly white hair on Henry Busse and you have a Charles Winninger.

What became of Ruth Etting? Tough life note: One of New York's rich men catches cold washing his hair in the north during the winter. So he goes to Florida once a month for a shampoo. When a Seaverham stops short it means carry him. Or go on alone. Frank Fay's "wo-wo" everywhere.

Memory: The tasty aroma of Bond shoe polish. Eddie Dowling, actor, and Eddie Dowling, stage manager, are both moon-faced. And Eddie Duchin, ahem, now spells it Eddy. Never one without the other couple. The Robert Rubins. Wouldn't take much make-up to make a Mephistopheles out of Count Salm.

Add hair cut needers: Earl Carroll, Lewis Calhern and Konrad Bercovici. John Golden has a sweep-the-sidewalk stride. Vincent Astor is nearing the 200 pound division. Rural writer whose name is a natural: Rose Wilder Lane. If it wouldn't touch off lumbago, I'd like a swing on the garden gate with Jane Withers.

The Arthur Murray dance school has been one of the odd depression defiers. Its space has enlarged steadily during a period when it might be assumed dancing would be the last thing people would think about. Murray himself was recently profiled by the New Yorker and seems to have established himself as an authority on the modern dance. Amazing how many people go there to improve their dancing, to reduce or merely to relax. Staid people you somehow would never expect gesturing toward frivolity. Murray is a super-publicist. He bombards the columnists several times a day with what he thinks is "hot news" and gets out a sizable magazine featuring his Terpsichorean exploits.

Sentimentalists are worrying about the condition of Maxfield Parrish's Old King Cole. Those who used to glance up to the old rascal at the 'Knickerbocker bar and were inspired to just one more are fretting about its shabbiness. It now hangs in a room bearing its name at the St. Regis and is in sad need of reconditioning. A fellow reporter standing before the painting one day observed to Frank O'Malley: "You know that picture looks much better after a few rinks." Said O'Malley: "What doesn't?"

* * *

At the Hugh Murrays' pent house one night I sat up until long after my bedtime talking to Scotti, the operatic tenor, whose death some weeks ago struck sadness. I knew little about music and he was little interested in writing but we hit upon a topic of mutual interest—food. He was a gourmet and described dishes of exquisite blending and cuisine in many parts of the world. But on our way home I inveigled him to a Child's in Lincoln Square and squared him away before a stack of butter cakes and "two in the dark." And he did not do badly with them either.

TODAY—A Beaten King Is Not Popular or Safe.

Italy says Ethiopia's "King of Kings" will soon abdicate, perhaps accepting in exchange for his throne a pension that would make him comfortable in Bagdad, where his ancestors may have lived, or in Paris, which he knows and likes well.

Abdication would be wise. Beaten kings are not popular, or even safe, among barbarous tribes. They beat their idols and kill their witch doctors in a prolonged drought. Haile Selassie's abdication, ending one war, might soon be followed by another, in the Far East, where Russia, with Mongolians, is fighting Japan's Manchukuans.

That might bring another "big war."

Dr. Eckener Smiles

Dr. Eckener, commander of the new giant Zeppelin, displeases the Nazis by his attitude in the recent election. His name is to be omitted from publicity connected with his airship. Dr. Eckener, now guiding his big ship over the ocean to Brazil, can smile at that as others have done.

Not Forgotten

The Netherlands synagogue excommunicated the great Jewish philosopher, Spinoza, because they did not like his views and he declined to obey the order to lie down on the threshold of the synagogue and let the congregation walk over him. The excommunication text, published by Sir Frederick Pollock in his "Life of Spinoza," signed by the "great men" of the synagogue solemnly declares that Spinoza's name must never again be mentioned among men. It has been mentioned, and only Spinoza's greatness has kept their names alive.

Colley Cibber wrote truly:

"The aspiring youth that fired the Ephesian dome
Outlives in fame the pious fool that raised it."

That youth set fire to Diana's temple to make his name live. It was decreed that that name, Herostratus, should never be mentioned, yet every schoolboy learns it, and knows very little about the builders of the temple, except that Croesus contributed some cows made of pure gold to decorate it.

The great Maimonides, or "Rambam," as many little boys call him, did not suffer in his reputation when the great synagogue of Lisbon excommunicated him. It is not easy to kill fame.

Fate Awaited

Boast not thyself of tomorrow, for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.—Proverbs XXVII, 1.

Millions listened to the radio, and eagerly read newspapers, for information of "Hauptmann's last hour." Betty Gow, a servant in the Lindbergh family who testified against Hauptmann spent a great part of the night praying alone in her room. Her radio was turned on all night. At 8 p. m. in Trenton, N. J., it is 1 a. m. in Glasgow. The jail warden put away the new ten-dollar black suit bought for Hauptmann to wear in the coffin, Mrs. Hauptmann put away her widow's veil.

The Lindbergh family remained secluded at Long Barn in England. British police turned away newspaper men, telling them not to come back, a mile from the Lindbergh house. Colonel Lindbergh earlier watched a local coal man putting coal into his cellar.

Around the prison in Trenton crowds joked, laughed, refused to believe that the latest reprieve was not a hoax. For them it was a holiday.

Elliott, the executioner, cheated out of his $150 fee by the reprieve, was philosophical. They will send for him again.

Cat and Mouse

One editor compares "Jersey justice" and Hauptmann to the cat playing with the mouse before killing it. "Jersey justice" being the cat. Another writer says the Hauptmann case reminds him of a Chinese torture that killed the victim slowly, letting drops of water fall on his head at intervals.

An end will come to the Hauptmann case, even an end to "reprieves" and "stays." Meanwhile, it is interesting to see newspapers print so many sympathetic pictures of the Hauptmann baby. A picture of the small stone standing above what was left of the Lindbergh baby would be an appropriate reminder.

Warning Stage Over

Japan and Russia have passed from the "warning" stage to border fighting. Mongolians doing the fighting on the Russian side. Planes, war tanks and heavy artillery are taken across the Manchukuo border by Russia, and that "looks like business."

Russia will soon know how much Mongolia will be worth as a protection against Japan, and Europe may soon know the value of Russia as a protection against Asia.

Later western Europe may learn what value there is in Germany as a protection against Russia. If no war comes of all this the world may thank its guardian angel.

Russia's message to Japan is practically an ultimatum; Japan knows who supplied tanks and airplanes used by warriors of "Outer Mongolia."

Russia reminds Japan that she has an army of more than 1,000,000 ready, and that is not as important as the fighting planes and submarines that Russia has at Vladivostok, within easy striking distance of Japan's coast, her cities and her factories.

FLOOD, FROST ROAD DAMAGE $400,000,000

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O. April 3—High water was Director John J. Jaster said yesterday cold and flood water damaged 3,000 miles—a fourth of the state highway system—and estimated loss at $400,000.

The director said some sections of all roads in the 12,000 mile highway system were damaged and that it would require the entire summer to make repairs.

Jaster estimated that cold weather caused $5,000,000 loss and flood waters $1,000,000.

The Ohio River Basin is expected to receive an acreage planted in wheat this year 50 per cent from that of last year when the total number is prominent in both state and national Junior Chamber of Commerce circles and last year won the award given by the Columbus organization to the citizen who had done the most in a civic way for the city.

INCOME TAX YIELDS TREASURY SURPLUS

March Statement Shows Profit of $173,274,170 as Revenue Pours In

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON April 3—Heavy income tax receipts chalked up a treasury surplus for March—the first monthly excess of receipts since March 1935.

The month-end statement made public yesterday showed the treasury had operated at a profit of $173,274,170. It was attributed to first quarterly payments on 1935 incomes which amounted to $812,432,233. This was slightly ahead of the department's revised estimates which indicated about $811,000,000 would be received. The deficit for nine months of the current fiscal year was $7,237,000,000 at the end of March compared with $2,189,000,000 last year. The gross debt meanwhile had increased from $28,617,000,000 last year to $31,459,000,000.

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Dicky Agrees To Allow Madge To Accompany Him to Jail.

DICKY GAVE a distinct start as I said that if he were going to the Southampton jail where Jack Leslie was confined that I was going with him. I expected a peremptory refusal and I was prepared to battle furiously for the chance to accompany him

I had been an shaken by what he had said concerning the men in the deserted shack that I could not bear to have him go out into the night without me

But evidently he realized that I was in no condition to listen to common sense for of course there was no real reason why I should go with him to the jail However he would not have been a man if he had not thought a protest of some sort was in order

Have you gone completely cuckoo" he demanded "Why on earth do you want to go over to the jailhouse" Or do you think I'm not able to go out of the house without somebody to wipe my nose and tie my necktie

Sure of Victory

His tone was querulous but held no real prohibition and I laughed with the certainty of victory won as I nuzzled close to him

You know I don think anything of the kind I said softly but somehow I can't stand the idea of your going out of the house tonight without me"

He took one hand from the wheel and laid it over mine

"Not even if I promise to stay far far away from the gentry on the hill" he asked with tender mockery

Not even for anything I said stubbornly but squeezing his hand tightly

Well I suppose I ought to be flattered enough by such devotion to say yes without anymore ado he said but honestly darling I do wish you wouldn't insist upon going"

"Almost thou persuadest me I quoted softly but "honestly darling I simply can't stay at home if you go away from the farmhouse tonight"

"All right then you win" Dicky said sending the car along "but don't think you're establishing a precedent old dear because you're not. There's a beautiful brunette at Bridgehampton who's been looking my way and if you think you're going to trail me every time I leave the farmhouse you can tally two or three things on your score board

"Don't be so alliterative, darling I murmured demurely You make me dizzy"

"What you need" Dicky announced is a good hickory stick applied judiciously and on that jesting note we reached the farmhouse

Katie greeted us with jubilant relief

Oh I'm so glad you've come" she carried all sign of her fainting fit gone Me I begin to think mine dinner all spoiled but you only fifteenmins late

Thank me for that Katie Dicky said graciously I dragged Mrs Graham away from Mrs Tiger by the hair of her head

Another Scrape

Katie giggled while my mother in law looked in with lofty disapproval She never addresses Katie or any servant with anything but formality of any degrees according to her mood and she objects most strenuously to the manner in which Dicky and I often jest with Katie sure that because of her long association with us she will never take an undue advantage of our raillery

Me I tell Missis Graham don Meesis Tiger she would talk arm off brass monkey Katie chortled and Mother Graham exploded

Katie are you going to serve dinner or are you going to stand there chattering" she demanded in such awe-inspiring tones that Katie with a choked I feez right away queeck scuttled to the kitchen

I gave a private signal to Dicky and he drew her away to the living room while I made my way by a devious route to the chair where I found Katie standing in the middle of the floor with her head thrown back her fists clenched at her sides and her face working with a great effort to keep back the tears

Across the room the nurse was standing with her eyes watchfully fixed upon me temper in a house hold helper When she saw me she gestured toward Katie and I saw

Don't forget about the poetry Iris said It seemed all the comfort she could give her Camilla squeezed her hand gratefully and was gone

"Gosh" said Owen with a mirthless hardness dropping on a chair Thanks for getting her out for me You're a swell girl He reached for a cigaret Any designs I make for the Camel ads are well earned money believe it or not

Oh Owen She's mad about you And she is a real poet I believe she showed me some of her poetry

* * *

But he strode off to change for dinner Iris realized I was no she decided too She knew well enough that a heart of gold in old

It might be Morgan

poor Camilla's nervous body had no defence against Sigrid's beautiful little Northern face with its wheels of silver hair

Evening a hard fighting game of bridge was the thing Iris liked least Phina was firm about it she adored bridge herself and besides she pointed out not being able to play it well was as bad as having dowdy clothes

The three of them with Honora called in as she often was to make a fourth were playing a practice game one snowy January night

Too stormy to go to the show Phina had decreed well work up you game a little

They were sitting near the fire in the silver room and Iris a little drowsy with the fire and the dropping cards wearied after a while

Sound play a fair game if you took it more seriously her aunt said Who taught you?

Morgan Black Her mind flew back to Morgan teaching her the beginning of contract with Uncle Walt Outwardly a little rough with her but how gentle with her mistakes how admiring how proud when she played cleverly

Oh yes I wrote Will the other day that reminds me about the music books you said you sang those songs from He said Mr Black would be coming over soon and he'd send them by him

In heart I raped To see Morgan to talk to him again!

What?

I don't know When he leaves me I gather It seems he decided to settle down to life with a girl named Katie Oliver"

Iris Oliver Iris's voice was Lady She hoped her face was "are you sure"

Well nothing's sure but death and electric taxes I've only Will word of it Phina said "Mark it a heart"

I told she nods her own in a tone that showed both Men were like that If you [illegible] them you didn't love them Find another girl who did She didn't known how sure she felt of Morgan's continued [illegible] that she could write [illegible] walk in any moment and [illegible] low waiting there for her [illegible] and indefinable as her fury She hadn't known she don't think much of him" Iris retorted like a child

"There's the elevator Iris You talk to him He's so frightfully conversational" said Phina "Come on Owen"

But it was Morgan who stood there—Morgan Black quite at his ease in a dark overcoat she had never seen an opera hat flat in his gloved hand and the unmistakable square shape of Grandmother Lancing's 1870 music books under the other arm

"Good evening Iris I hope I'm not too late in delivering this. I couldn't get away from the people I was dining with till just now

She had been prepared for Miss Morgan but this sophisticated person with the light note of pleasant acquaintanceship in his voice But after all—if Phina was right this was the only Morgan she'd see from now on

Not too late a bit" She smiled She did not know how sophisticated how controlled she herself looked standing there slim and smart from her perfectly done waves to her gold satin sandals Demi toilette for evenings at home was Phina's rule tonight Iris wore a close-clinging red crepe of deceptive simplicity showing every beautiful line of her slim body

Tomorrow Iris bursts into tears and confesses

THINGS WE'D NEVER MISS

This is the rapturous season when it is simply cannot be suppressed when the mails are cluttered with brilliantly colored catalogues showing us just how our gardens will (not) look and when every poster every folder and every fashion writer reminds us of all the things we need

But after all while everybody takes it for granted that everybody else needs something there are lots and lots of things which most of us could do without For instance here are a few things we'd never miss

Blood red nail polish Green mascara Patent leather hair

Coquettish feminine veils on those mannish hats for women

Platinum blonds who are letting their hair go native—and are only at the half way post

Mid Victorian styles that once made grandmother's family album look like a joke book

Fat men who insist on parading the bathing beaches sans the upper half of their bathing suits Fat bathing beauties in shorts

Comical conical hats for women that make even a pretty gal look like a cartoonist's favorite dream

The ardent swain who dons the Indian love-call on his automobile horn beneath his sweetheart's window at all hours of the night

Saxophones — Blues singers — Tap dancers And popular songs with only one line no rhyme no rhythm and no sense

Conventions at which unleashed husbands crowd the hotel lobbies line up at the bars and make whoopee far from their madding wives

The man who always starts an argument with the waiter—and the woman who takes out her repair kit and re-assembles her complexion at the restaurant table

Reducing dieters who think in terms of calories and take away your appetite Acidosis fanatics, who spoil your dinner with gruesome warnings and forebodings

PUPILS WILL TAKE SECOND STATE TEST

Examination Will Be Given In County Schools To Check Progress During Term.

Marion county school pupils will participate in the second group of every pupil tests prepared by the state department of education, D. T. Mills, county superintendent, said today.

Tests in identical course were given last December and a comparison of the two will enable the instructors to check the achievement of pupils and progress made during the school year. The tests also provide the instructor with a knowledge of individual needs of the pupils.

According to the schedule announced, the tests will be given throughout the county for mathematics on Monday, April 6. Science test for all county pupils will be given on the following day and special tests will be given at various county schools on Wednesday.

In addition to the state every pupil tests, reading and arithmetic tests prepared by the Kansas State Teachers college will be given third grade pupils. The purpose of the special third grade tests, is a part of the program designed to follow the progress and ability of the pupils of that particular grade.

Forty of these sunken valleys along continental margins recently have been mapped by new sonic sounding devices The nature indicates they were cut by erosion when they lay above sea level

Some vast ice age that temporarily lowered sea level has been advanced as an explanation But the Princetonians point out that ice can scarcely account for sufficient lowering of the ocean and add that a collision a few million years ago would fit the known facts

The collision could thus slow the earth's rate of rotation which would change the earth's elliptical shape its flattening at the poles Because there would be less centrifugal pull about the equator and the flatness of the poles would tend to rise

With the slowing the liquid seas would change their shape becoming less elliptical with their waters following speedily toward the poles Far faster would the water thus change its shape than the earth's solid crust

During this lag the ocean between latitudes 55 or 60 would drop their levels far below the land and the river erosion valleys now submerged would have time to form

WALLACE WISECRACK IRKS MR. FLETCHER

G. O. P. Leader Accuses New Deal Chief of Playing Low Comedy Role.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 3—Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican national committee, yesterday accused Secretary Wallace of attempting to "wise-crack away" the demand of Sen. Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan, for a list of AAA beneficiaries who received more than $10,000 last year.

"Where more than a million dollars in taxpayers' money is concerned," he said, "it is unbecoming to the secretary of agriculture to behave and talk as though he were playing a low comedy role in vaudeville."

He referred to comment from Wallace which several reporters understood to say that the publication of such a list would invite kidnaping activities against the "farmer's daughter."

An official statement inserted at said "farmer's dollar."

Fletcher, however, stuck by the original news stories on the statement.

At the same time the Republican leader disputed a statement by Chester Davis, administrator of AAA, that it would take the entire comptroller's division working night and day for six weeks to produce such a list.

MINISTER SPEAKS ON SAFETY SUBJECT

Rev. James M. Fisher former pastor of the Ive Street Presbyterian church, addressed members of the Marion Kiwanis club on the subject "Take Time To Be Safe" at their weekly meeting Thursday noon at the Hotel Marion.

Fifty-five members were present. Committees in charge of the Kiwanis Easter egg hunt reported on progress of their plans. The hunt will be held Saturday morning, April 12 at 9 o'clock at McKinley park. The hunt is open to all Marion children. An "egg matinee" with the admission set at two fresh eggs, will be held at the Ohio theater, Saturday morning, April 4.

WASHINGTON SALMON SUPREME

2 cups of Binco or Bar Joe Salmon, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 1½ teaspoons Binco Salt, ¼ teaspoon Binco pepper, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 3 tablespoons chopped celery, 4 eggs, ½ cup cracker crumbs.

1 cup milk, ½ cup salmon liquor, 1 tablespoon Binco Cornstarch, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ teaspoon Binco salt, ¼ teaspoon Binco pepper, 1 tablespoon Binco Catsup, 1 can Binco Peas.

To the drained and chopped salmon, add the melted butter, salt, pepper, parsley and celery. Beat the eggs, combine with cracker crumbs and add to first mixture. Mix well, pack into a buttered mold (or individual molds) and steam one hour. Turn out on hot platter garnished with the peas heated and seasoned to taste and serve with the following sauce. Scald the milk, combine cornstarch and salmon liquor and add gradually to the milk stirring constantly. Add butter, salt, pepper and cook three minutes. Just before serving add the catsup.

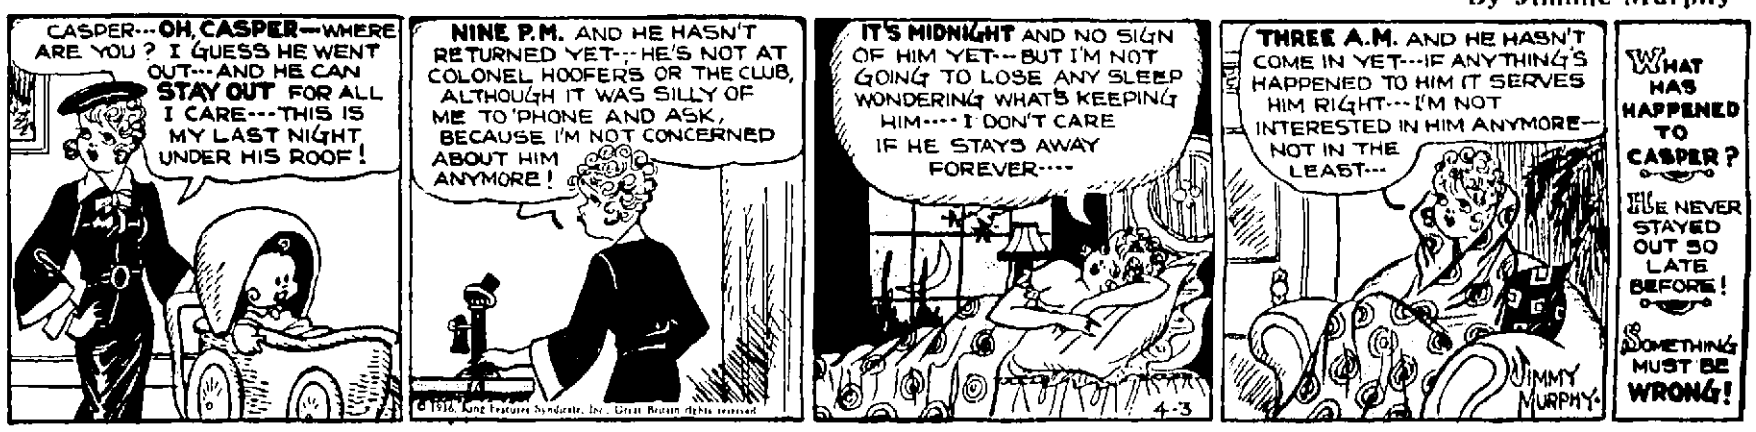
WELL, TILLIE, HAVE YOU ANSWERED ANY OF THE LETTERS FROM YOUR ROMANTIC ROMEO?
GOOD GRIEF! BUBBLES, I NEVER THOUGHT ABOUT ANSWERING THEM
4-3
WHY, SURE, TILLIE, YOU CAN SEND YOUR REPLY TO THE P.O. BOX HE GIVES ON THE RETURN ADDRESS
BUT, BUBBLES, DO YOU THINK I SHOULD WRITE TO SOMEONE I DON'T KNOW?
SAY, MAC, TILLIE WANTS TO KNOW IF SHE SHOULD ANSWER THE LETTERS SHE GOT FROM HER ROMANTIC ROMEO?
WHY, SURE, I'D ANSWER 'EM- WHY BE OLD-FASHIONED!
OH, DEAR NOW I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO
IF I'D TOLD TILLIE NOT TO ANSWER THOSE LETTERS SHE WOULD HAVE BEEN SURE TO DO IT- TELLIN' HER TO ANSWER 'EM WILL KEEP HER GUESSIN'. SMART GUY!

Toots and Casper — By Jimmie Murphy

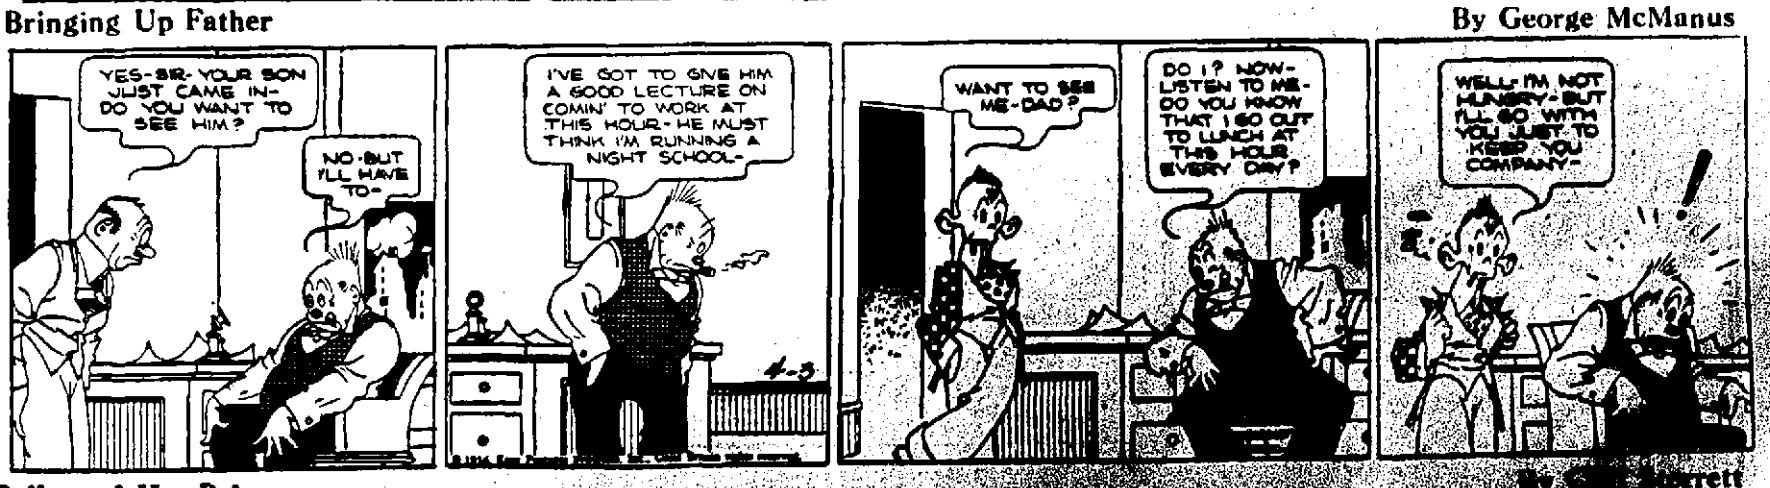


CASPER--- OH, CASPER— WHERE ARE YOU? I GUESS HE WENT OUT--- AND HE CAN STAY OUT FOR ALL I CARE--- THIS IS MY LAST NIGHT UNDER HIS ROOF!
NINE P.M. AND HE HASN'T RETURNED YET--- HE'S NOT AT COLONEL HOOFERS OR THE CLUB, ALTHOUGH IT WAS SILLY OF ME TO 'PHONE AND ASK, BECAUSE I'M NOT CONCERNED ABOUT HIM ANYMORE!
IT'S MIDNIGHT AND NO SIGN OF HIM YET--- BUT I'M NOT GOING TO LOSE ANY SLEEP WONDERING WHAT'S KEEPING HIM---- I DON'T CARE IF HE STAYS AWAY FOREVER----
THREE A.M. AND HE HASN'T COME IN YET--- IF ANYTHING'S HAPPENED TO HIM IT SERVES HIM RIGHT--- I'M NOT INTERESTED IN HIM ANYMORE— NOT IN THE LEAST---
JIMMY MURPHY
WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO CASPER?
HE NEVER STAYED OUT SO LATE BEFORE!
SOMETHING MUST BE WRONG!

Annie Rooney — By Brandon Walsh

HONEST, ZERO, MR. BULLION MUST BE THE SMARTEST MAN IN THE WHOLE WORLD - I TOLD HIM I LIKED APPLETREES AN' THE NEXT MORNING THIS APPLE ORCHARD WAS OUTSIDE MY WINDOW
I THOUGHT THEY WASN'T REAL — BUT THEY ARE REALLY AN' TRULY APPLE TREES — AN' DON'T THEY SMELL GRAND? JUST LIKE SOME SWELL KINDA PERFUME
I'M GONNA INVITE ALL THE KIDS I KNOW TO COME AN' SEE THE APPLE BLOSSOMS AN' SMELL 'EM, TOO ···· AN' WHEN THE SUMMER COMES — YOU KNOW WHAT
ALL THE TREES WILL BE FULL OF NICE RED APPLES — AN' MR. BULLION SEZ — ALL THE KIDS KIN COME AN' EAT ALL THE APPLES THEY WANT FREE FOR NOTHIN' — GEE - AIN'T IT GRAND?
DARRELL McCLURE

Bringing Up Father — By George McManus



YES-SIR- YOUR SON JUST CAME IN- DO YOU WANT TO SEE HIM?
NO-BUT I'LL HAVE TO-
I'VE GOT TO GIVE HIM A GOOD LECTURE ON COMIN' TO WORK AT THIS HOUR- HE MUST THINK I'M RUNNING A NIGHT SCHOOL-
WANT TO SEE ME-DAD?
DO I? NOW- LISTEN TO ME- DO YOU KNOW THAT I GO OUT TO LUNCH AT THIS HOUR EVERY DAY?
WELL- I'M NOT HUNGRY- BUT I'LL GO WITH YOU JUST TO KEEP YOU COMPANY-

W. N. SAMS
PHARMACY
121 S. MAIN ST.

THIS NEW OIL WILL SAVE MANY LIVES

C. Lower, Chemist, has compounded a new product to aid in combating Chest Colds. This remedy is a compounded oil known as OLEUM GUAICHROME.

Its protective action on the lungs is far more effective than any similar medicine now sold.

The product not only relieves congestion quickly but also reduces fever. It is believed that it will prevent Pneumonia when used as chest rub. Its early use in chest colds is urgently recommended. On sale at LOWER'S PHARMACY.

AWFUL CREATURES THAT COME TO LIFE IN THE NIGHT TIME

THEY LAY IN SLEEP AND DORMANT IN THE DAY TIME

These creatures prey upon the rich as well as the poor. No home is always safe. They can enter your homes in many strange ways. They live on HUMAN BLOOD. WATCH FOR THEM. BED BUG VERMIN. A house can be rid of them by careful spraying of OIL of SEVEN TEMPLES. No disgrace to get them but an awful disgrace to keep them. Sold at Lower's Pharmacy. 39c quart, 69c a gallon.

FREE: STOMACH ULCERS, GAS PAINS, INDIGESTION relieved quick. Get free sample doctor's prescription, Udga, at Eckerd's, Gallaher's and Sams Pharmacy.

STOCK PRICES TURN ERRATIC

Unsettled European Situation Brings Profit Taking Into Wall Street.

BY VICTOR RIVKIN
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 3—Moderately irregular price movements were the rule in today's stock market.

With the European picture a bit spottier, week-end profit taking made its appearance after a steady to firm opening. At the same time domestic trade news brought buying in selected issues.

Bethlehem Steel, along with a number of others, near the start of the fourth hour, had edged into new high territory for the move with a fractional advance. Gainers up to around 2 points included Columbian Carbon, Chrysler, Corn products, General Motors, Celanese, American Chain, Johns-Manville and du Pont.

Bonds were a trifle mixed as were most commodities. The French franc and other gold currencies were heavy in terms of the dollar.

Optimistic implications of domestic trade news overshadowed, to some extent, foreign happenings.

Of special interest to the bullish forces was the report of Dun & Bradstreet that retail distribution during the week was around the best level since 1930.

The federal reserve system's weekly statement disclosed an increase of $8,000,000 in the nation's gold stocks to a new high record of $10,185,000,000.

MAY WHEAT WEAK AND REST RECEDES

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 3—Relative weakness of May wheat as contrasted with new crop deliveries distinguished trading today.

Despite the slow tendency of the new crop months to follow the action of May wheat, new low prices for the season were recorded both for July and September. May wheat weakness was in the face of the fact that for the second time in the last few days primary domestic receipts were smaller than a year ago.

Wheat closed irregular, ⅝ lower to ¾ higher compared with yesterday's finish, May 94½@⅝, corn unchanged to ⅛ down, May 59⅞@60, oats unchanged to ⅛ off, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents decline.
